

WHAT DID WASHINGTON COUNTY WATER CONSERVANCY DISTRICT

DO FOR YOU IN 2018?

8 BILLION

gallons of water provided

120,000

visitors welcomed to the water conservation gardens

7,000

water quality tests performed

200

smart meters installed^[1]

11,600

feet of new pipeline installed

$ 280,000

issued in water conservation rebates

20

tours of the water treatment plant

150

dam inspections completed

10 MILLION

kilowatts of hydroelectric power produced

20

free landscape workshops taught

365

days worked

610

feet drilled for wells

4

community events hosted 300

free landscape audits performed

1,000

water fair attendees

15

pipeline breaks repaired

AND THAT'S NOT ALL. BUT YOU GET THE IDEA.

More than 90 percent of Washington County's residents and businesses depend on water from the Washington County Water Conservancy District, a not-for-profit public water provider. The district and its municipal partners have invested more than $60 million in recent conservation efforts. The result? More than one billion gallons of water saved.^[2] Here's to more savings in 2019.

^[1]All culinary water is metered in Washington County.

^[2]Potable water use of WCWCD's municipal customers from 2010 to 2015.